THE TRUE CIVIC DUTY.

The true inwardness of success is obedience to duty. Thus the old philosophers taught a strange, but nevertheless, a comforting creed in their devotion to the principle that victory is in the strife despite the outcome of the battle. The consciousness of right-doing and of courageous facing of the crisis of life, the ancient savants taught, comprised the most enduring reward and the essence of victory.

What is true of moral activities is alike true of political or civic life. That citizen earns an individual reward when he discharges faithfully the obligation of his citizenship, although his immediate cause may be temporarily overshadowed by seeming defeat. The endeavor is the main thing; its results are but incidents, although a practical age is prone to the materialistic idea that "what will it profit?" should be the measure of all effort.

The above sentiment is embodied in an editorial in the San Antonio Express urging on its people the need for more earnest effort in the building of a greater and stronger city. The truth applies to all cities and to all peoples. No great enterprise for a community has been built on selfishness; it takes courage and broadmindedness to accomplish results. The man, who as a public officer, is guided by the sole question of what will it profit, is unfit to serve a people. The greatest good to the greatest number and the best possible is the least a man can do who is serving publicly.

THAT GEORGIA FAMILY.

A local contemporary challenges the Herald's statement that it has just received a car load of print paper. It is a matter of absolute indifference to the Herald what its neighbor half way between old and new town thinks, says or suspends, but to those few readers who might be led to think the Herald has made a false statement the facts are given. The Herald bought a solid car load of paper, to weigh approximately 30,000 pounds, through the Southwestern Paper company, to be shipped direct from the eastern mill. In excess of this weight, ordered by this paper, a small amount of paper was included for a Carthage paper and a small lot for the Palestine paper. The car was billed to the Herald as follows:

The Herald, 1200 reams, or 30,000 pounds.
Carthage paper, 50 reams.
Visitor, 140 reams.
Of course we have the bills showing the above facts.
But about that Georgia family: It is a matter of history, you know, that an entire family in that state became exceedingly prosperous once upon a time by attending to its own business. And it is a most excellent virtue, one the Herald commends to its neighbor as being worthy of emulation. By attending to its own business all the time the Herald has built up a prosperous business, enabling it to install a Linotype machine and other modern machinery and equipment, and enabling it to buy paper in car lots.

REDISCOVERING THE HOME.

The tendency of the day, with its school medical inspection, school meals and school nursing, is away from the old idea of the home and as Joseph Lee says in the December issue of The Survey:

"This progressive transfer of functions from the home to the school has resulted from our determination that the child shall have the best possible chance; that he shall, if we can bring it about, grow up straight and strong and fitted to live a noble and successful life. And it looks on the face of it like on process. The child needs education; he needs industrial training; he needs play grounds, protection from disease; he needs food; if we can supply one, why not the rest. Why indeed must we not supply the rest to make the one—the conceded one, popular education—effective? The question seems simply how far a single principle shall be carried. Is it such in truth, or is there somewhere an invisible line beyond which we are no longer doing what we started out to do but something else, or are undoing it?"

"Obviously there must be somewhere such a line if the existence of the home is of importance to our purpose. For if we deprive it of all its attributes the home must cease to be."

The newspaper men of the state will hear with genuine regret of the death of Editor Elwin A. Thompson of the Denison Herald, which occurred in a Sherman sanitarium on Thursday night. Editor Thompson was one of the foremost builders of the state, and had built up a successful business in his Herald. Denison will feel the loss of this man keenly, because he has been a leader there in all things worth while. The effects of his optimism and energy and brain have been felt throughout the state, and his work was a constant source of inspiration to other newspaper workers in the country. He was a victim of peritonitis.

If Anderson county is to be represented at the Dallas Fair, and it should be by all means, it is time active preparations were under way. It will be a serious mistake if this county does not have an exhibit at Dallas. The folks will be there, and they will be there to pick out a future home. The boys' corn club from this county could make a good exhibit if called on.

All of the churches invite you. Recently an amusement manager said he had to turn hundreds of people away from his place because he could not seat them. Wonder what a pastor would think if his usual Sunday congregation would overflow the church until they had to be turned away? Go to church, you old rascal, and you'll feel better.

Sensational Reports.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 7.—Sensational allegations filed in court today by John Bergman and T. P. Wallace, if proved, invalidate the work of the March grand jury, which indicted a hundred councilmen for grafting. Some of the councilmen have been sentenced.

King Mannel seems to have been the victim of "bright eyes." There is no accusation thus far that the French dancer wore a hobble skirt when she hobbled the king.

Life is too short to be a grouch. If your neighbor prospers do not lament his success, but rejoice and determine to make an effort to enjoy a similar prosperity.

Palestine will prosper as it invites prosperity.

TEDDY VISITS GEORGIA

Spoke to Boys of Mountain School at Rome and Puts in Strenuous Afternoon in Atlanta.

(Herald Special.)
Rome, Ga., Oct. 8.—To visit a unique educational institution, in which both he and Mrs. Roosevelt have long been interested, ex-President Roosevelt and his party stopped off here this morning on the way from Knoxville to Atlanta. The institution is the Berry School for Mountain Boys, which aims to give practical education to the boys of the mountainous section where the facilities for securing a practical training for the battle of life are limited. Colonel Roosevelt became interested in the school while he was president and he and Mrs. Roosevelt have since contributed regularly towards its maintenance. Miss Martha Berry, the president and founder of the institution, received the Roosevelt party upon their arrival this morning and showed them through the grounds and the dormitories and the workshops. When the inspection was concluded the ex-president delivered an address to the students.

Roosevelt Program in Atlanta.

(Herald Special.)
Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 8.—When Colonel Roosevelt reached Atlanta this afternoon, accompanied by a committee of Atlanta citizens who had escorted him from Knoxville, he found a program prepared for his visit that was well calculated to suit one of his strenuous nature. Almost every minute was provided for, from the time of his arrival until the hour of retirement. Included among the features for which the program provided were an address before the Southern Conservation Congress, a reception under the auspices of the Uncle Remus Memorial Association, an official dinner given by Mayor Robert F. Maddox, an address for the benefit of the fund that is being raised for a permanent memorial to Joel Chandler Harris ("Uncle Remus"), and an address later in the evening to the negroes of the city.

BRYAN ADDRESSES FARMERS.

"The Farmer's Share of the Revenue" Discussed at Lincoln.

(Herald Special.)
Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 8.—Addresses by speakers of wide prominence made this one of the most interesting and profitable days of the convention of the Farmers' National Congress. Heading the list of speakers at the forenoon session were William J. Bryan, who delivered his lecture on "The Farmer's Share of the Revenue," and Congressman Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana, who spoke on "Rivers and Harbors." No regular session of the gathering was held this afternoon, the time being devoted to entertainment provided by the local committee.

To the Ladies of Palestine.

There never has been a time in the history of the hair business when the demand for switches, puffs, curls, waves, chignons, fringes and all kinds of hair goods, was so tremendous as it is now. Every one who has combings must have them made up. Every woman must have some false hair or she cannot get a hat that will be at all becoming.

Respectfully,

NOTICE.

State of Texas, County of Anderson.
Whereas, on the 10th day of August, 1910, the county commissioners' court made and entered of record in Vol. 16, page 510, of the commissioners' court minutes, an order for an election to be held to determine whether or not a majority of the qualified property tax-paying voters of said county desire that there shall be annually levied upon the property within said county by said commissioners' court, a tax of 15c on the One Hundred Dollars' worth of property for road purposes under the provisions of an amendment to the state constitution adopted in 1890.

Now, therefore, I, O. C. Funderburk, County Judge of said county, in pursuance of said order and by authority vested in me by Article 4787 of the revised statutes of Texas, do hereby give notice that said election shall be held in the several voting precincts of the county on the 8th day of November, 1910—the day of the general election; that said election shall be held and returns made by the officers holding said general election; that only qualified voters who are also property tax-payers of said county shall be permitted to vote at said election; that said election officers shall procure a separate ballot box for said election and shall be furnished separate poll and tally lists and separate returns and envelopes for said election, and shall hold and conduct said election according to the general laws governing the holding of elections. The ballots for said election shall have written or printed on them the words "For the Tax" and "Against the Tax," and those who favor the tax shall vote the ticket "For the Tax," and those who oppose the tax shall vote the ticket "Against the tax."

County Judge of Anderson County, Texas. 9-24-30td 4tw

CITATION.

The State of Texas.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Anderson County—Greeting:
Oath having been made as required by law, you are hereby commanded to summon the heirs of H. D. Taylor, deceased, by making publication of this citation once in each week for eight successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Anderson county, to be held at the court house thereof, in Palestine, on the fourth Monday in November, 1910, the same being the 28th day of November, 1910, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 1st day of October, 1910, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 8332, wherein A. D. Evans is plaintiff, and the heirs of H. D. Taylor, deceased, are defendants, and said petition alleging that heretofore, to-wit: on the 1st day of September, 1910, plaintiff was in the lawful possession as the owner in fee simple, of the south half of Lot Four, in block H, of Jackson's Addition to the City of Palestine, Anderson county, Texas; that afterwards, on the 1st day of September, 1910, the defendants entered upon and dispossessed plaintiff of the above described land, and withhold from him the possession thereof, and that the nature of the claim of the defendants, the heirs of H. D. Taylor, deceased, in and to said land is as follows: The defendants claim that said H. D. Taylor acquired the title to said land prior to his death by warranty deed of J. E. Davis and wife, of date July 25th, 1883, recorded in Vol. 33, page 474, of Anderson County Deed Records, as well as by release, subsequently executed by Royall, Coleman & Co. unto the said H. D. Taylor of the vendor's lien which was retained in said deed, and plaintiff admits that said H. D. Taylor did become the owner of said land by virtue of the aforesaid deed and release, but plaintiff avers that the title so acquired by the said H. D. Taylor, as well as any title or claim which passed to his heirs, upon his death, in and to said land, have been long ago lost and barred under the operation of the statutes of limitations of five and ten years, and plaintiff has acquired a superior title to said land under said statutes as specially pleaded in said petition.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, Jno. R. Moore, Clerk of the District Court of Anderson county.
Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Palestine, this 1st day of October, 1910.
(Seal) Jno. R. Moore,
Clerk of the District Court of Anderson County.
